Tropical storm catches Hancock by surprise; trees, power lines downed by high winds – and a tornado

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Though it was not a major threat, Tropical Storm Bill will long be remembered as the storm that surprised us all. On Sunday afternoon, while many area residents were relaxing in the sunshine and readying their homes for upcoming holiday parties, most people had no idea that a storm was about to wreak havoc on the coast.

BY GEOFF BELCHER

Thurmon Williams, president of the Diamondhead Property Owners Association, turned himself in at the Hancock County Justice Facility yesterday morning after a warrant was issued for his arrest on misdemeanor charges alleging that he had assaulted another Diamondhead man.

Williams was immediately released on his own recognizance.

The warrant stemmed from an affidavit signed in Hancock County Justice Court last Thursday by John A. Schaffer.

In the affidavit, Schaffer alleged that Williams "grabbed my face, smacked me in the face, slammed me in a doorway and pushed

SEALs propose new training facility

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Hancock County may stand to lose yet more land to the federal government if a plan to allow the Navy SEALs to train in the western part of the county is approved. The property, about 5,200 acres, all either privately owned or owned by Stennis Space Center, is all located in the buffer zone area.

Representatives from Turner, Collie and Braden, Inc. (TCB Inc.) met with Supervisors and Navy SEALs officers to go over a preliminary environmental impact statement and try to work out questions raised at scoping meeting held in March.

The loss of tax revenue and the impact on private citizens were the main concerns that Supervisors raised. The county receives property tax revenue from much of the land.

Three cemeteries are located near the training area. Old Turtle Skin Cemetery, and St. Mary's Cemetery will lie just outside the training area, said TCB representative, Bob Esenwein, but a third Cemetery, the Isidore family cemetery lies just inside the planned project.

District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman said he wanted to make sure that public access to these cemeteries would not be impacted by the training exercises. He also expressed concern over possible restrictions on hunting and fishing in the area and the use of the Pearl River.

Navy officials said that hunting and fishing and access to the Pearl River would be allowed when it was safe, but would be restricted. Access to the Isidore Cemetery would be available to family members. The other cemeteries should not be impacted by the training, they said.

Access to sand and gravel pits in the impact area would be phased out, they said.

Navy officials also said they would suggest that the county be used for housing for military personnel and that this, coupled with fuel sales and supplies bought in the county, should offset the loss of property tax revenues.

But Supervisors were not convinced and further questioning brought out the fact that fuel purchases would mainly be made at Stennis Airport from Port and Harbor and at another supplier in Pearl River County. Housing may or may not be built in the county.

"I don't see how the county will benefit at all from this," said District 5 Supervisor Jay Cuevas. "We are not going to get anything."

"Bottom line is there will have to be a whole lot more answers before I could go along with this," said Pullman. "And so far I don't see any answers to those questions."

Pullman said he didn't want to sound like he was totally opposed to the idea, but just needed more definite answers. Another issue, he said, is safety. The Navy does not plan to fence the area, a plan Pullman said he thought could be hazardous to locals who may wander into the area and be unaware of the military operations.

The Navy would be conducting operations about four days a week throughout the year except for Thanksgiving and about three weeks at Christmas.

If land owners chose not to sell their land, the land would be seized by eminent domain if the project proceeds, said Esenwein. When the final impact statement is released in August, more public hearings will be held.

Bay seeks $1.15M in Tidelands funds for parking, boardwalk

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Staff Writer

Bay St. Louis is seeking $1,150,000 in state Tidelands Trust money for a new downtown parking project, beach access and a shoreline boardwalk.

And city leaders hope to meet with members of the local legislative delegation Tuesday to ensure a that vigorous effort is made by law makers to secure the funding. Officials were stunned this spring to learn that a $150,000 appropriation that appeared locked into place for 2004 was slashed to $50,000 in the final hours of the Legislature.

The city's new quest for funding includes a request to redirect $450,000 the city has amassed over the past three years in Tidelands appropriations. Those monies were approved for further upgrades to the Jimmy Rutherford Fishing Pier at Ulman Avenue.

But when it came time to lay out exactly how that money might be spent, intense opposition developed to the specifics. One main part of the proposal involved building beach-front parking for the pier's patrons - even the idea of a parking deck on stilts was floated and then discarded in the face of opposition.

City council and the mayor agreed that the money would be better spent in another part of the city's waterfront, providing a municipal surface parking lot next to the Fire Dog Saloon and new beach access directly across the street.

Ultimately, the city wants to build a two- or three-story parking garage on the existing parking lot, and a boardwalk along the shoreline.

The Beach Boulevard parking lot has been used as such for many years, although it is under private ownership. The lot directly across the street from it is tied to purchase of the parking lot.

The city's three-part funding request includes re-allocating the money already allotted to the Rutherford Pier, $450,000. In a letter to the Department of Marine Resources, which administers the Tidelands Trust funding program, Mayor Eddie Favre said it would be applied to buying the surface lot for additional parking, "which is vital to the area for economic growth and a safe access to the beach."

The original project involved enlarging and re-striping existing parking bays, installing curb, gutter and drainage flumes, in addition to additional beach parking near the pier.

"Due to public concerns for parking facilities adjacent to residential beach-front homes," the mayor said, the city decided on the alternative project.

City leaders say that decision involves some risk

- the city could lose the $450,000 entirely unless DMR and the Legislature agree to the reassignment of funds.

In addition to the re-allocation request, the city is filing a $500,000 application for "Tidelands" money towards acquiring the surface parking lot, and constructing improvements to it. A separate $200,000 request also would be earmarked for property acquisition and construction of a pedestrian boardwalk and related amenities. City officials say it will take several more years of Tidelands appropriations to finance the entire project.

State Tidelands Trust funds are derived from leases the state awards for use of waterfront bottomlands - casinos are the main contributors to the fund. DMR staff and its commission prioritize funding requests annually, and forward recommendations for allocations to the state Legislature.

Favre said he's spoken with state Rep. J.P. Compretta concerning the city's change in plans, and found him receptive to the new project. The mayor said he hopes to have the local delegation meet with City Council at its July 7 meeting to outline the details and the need for the new project.

Our Lady to host annual Crab Fest

For the past 18 years the July 4th weekend has been the date for the Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church's Annual Crab Fest.

Beginning Friday will mark the 19th OLG Crab Fest from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Activities are 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday and 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Sunday.

Many folks look forward to the Crab Fest as it offers so many different activities in addition to great foods.

Members of OLG work very hard, starting months before the event to bring about the many delicious foods.

The Crab Fest is held on the OLG grounds on Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

The crab Fest has something for all ages. There is a Kiddie Land, rides, 100 arts and crafts booths, plants and flower booth, rock climbing, crab races, etc.

And the food, well there should be something there which you would like.

This starts with the stuffed crabs, crab-stuffed potatoes, (I always enjoy the crab-stuffed potatoes), crab and shrimp biscuits, fried crab claws, crab and shrimp pasta, crawfish etoufee, boiled crabs and shrimp, red beans and rice, burgers, hot dogs, fried catfish plates, desserts, etc.

Since it is near noon as I write this, it sure makes me hungry to thing of the good foods that will be offered at the OLG Crab Fest.

I hope to see you this weekend at the OLG Crab Fest.

July 4th weekend is one in which many celebrations are held in our area.

There will be fireworks displays, family reunions, fishing trips, company from out of town and all types of parties.

Hopefully everyone will have a great time, enjoy themselves, and most important of all be safe.

Many folks will have long weekend holidays, while there are those who have to work.

Take for instance our law enforcement agencies. Because of the large number of travelers, State Troopers, Sheriff's Deputies and City Police Officers will all probably working longer hours than normal.

Then there are other jobs such as, hospital workers, whose positions have to be covered around the clock 365 days a year. We have to think about and thank those folks for the jobs they do.

Anyway, those who have to work the weekend, hopefully you will be able to be off and enjoy yourself in the very near future.

Since schools in the area will be opening earlier than ever, or at least I can recall. It is not too late for parents to begin school shopping for their children.

Hopefully when they are shopping they shop-at-home wherever possible. Shopping-at-home just helps so many folks

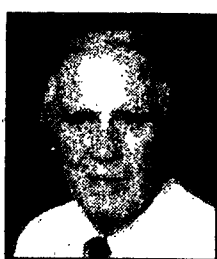

Spending money like a 'drunken sailor'

I've been busy all week. Trying to find this "drunken sailor" who has been squandering our state tax money the past couple years.

The GOP's Haley Barbour has been saying we've been spending money in state government like a "drunken sailor."

Now this writing fellow who came over from a weekly paper in Forest and is now columnizing in Jackson, after failing to get Mike Parker elected governor, repeats the identical Barbour "drunken sailor" mantra.

Personally I resent them picking on sailors, since

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

back years ago, I was a sailor myself.

Their tipsy swabby, I guess, is a shot at Gov. Ronnie Musgrove, since all this alleged profligate spending is supposed to have taken place on his watch.

Musgrove can defend himself, but worse, it's an insult to thousands of Mississippi have-nots who may have benefited from better funding of services that specifically help them.

I can think of 55,000 poor children who three years ago had no health care coverage but now are in the CHIP program; many hundreds of our poverty level population brought into Medicaid, and school teachers given long-promised pay hikes, inching them closer to the Southern average.

A new state budget study by the non-partisan Stennis Institute at Mississippi State University confirms that a "substantial amount" of the state budget benefits the poverty level population.

The Stennis study, funded by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation for the Children's Defense Fund, also makes clear that a "weak national economy" has taken a toll on this state's revenues. To meet present and future budget exigencies the state needs to upgrade some tax brackets to yield more money, the study recommends.

Specifically it advocates the state consider increasing the personal income tax which the Institute says is among the "flattest income taxes in the nation." Its boldest proposal is to hike the top bracket of the income tax from 5 to 6 percent, a legislative taboo since it was cut back in the late '70s.

But getting down to cases, proponents of the drunken sailor doctrine mention Medicaid, health care, education and debt service among those inordinately running up the tab.

Okay, let's take drunken sailor No 1: Medicaid, and you must throw in health

Gulfside housing plan bad for the neighborhood

To the Editor,
The article, "Waveland Residents Say Senior Housing Location Not Suitable," which appeared in The Sea Coast Echo June 26, 2003, is an example of biased reporting and demands a reply.

Gulfside Methodist Assembly's proposal to build seemingly lovely "Rometta's Place," in actuality thirty-six 400 square foot one-bedroom units squeezed into a single block of Sears Avenue in Waveland, is presented as a harmless, altruistic bit of philanthropy, a praiseworthy effort to extend "goodwill and fellowship" to the affected neighborhood.

The residents of Gulfside's targeted area, in contrast, appear as "hard-liners," a curmudgeonly group opposed to housing for the elderly.

Why soppeddle this important issue? Why not tell people the plain truth:

that, as originally planned by Gulfside, "Rometta's Place" would represent only the first phase of an ambitious, government-subsidized, HUD housing project which will destroy approximately twenty-six acres of dense woodlands, include age groups as "elderly" as 21, overburden antiquated, already inefficient sewerage and drainage systems, increase the volume of traffic in the area and, in all likelihood, raise taxes to support the massive improvements it would require.

Most importantly, it would violate and effectively change the zoning covenant of R-1, or single residential, that the city of Waveland has entered into with the homeowners of this area.

Calling Gulfside's proposal a possible "exception" to the covenant between Waveland and its tax paying citizens would not only set a dangerous precedent, but would undermine what residents had every reason to expect when they, in good faith, invested their lives and money in this quiet, long established, single residential neighborhood. Gulfside's inappropriate conception of "stewardship," their own "vision" for the future, unfortunately fails to consider the city guaranteed expectations for the future of the homeowners who already reside here.

The large group of homeowners who were depicted as opposed to housing for the elderly have at no time made that statement. As an individual, I object to Gulfside's disingenuous use of the term "elderly," when that is not their full intent, but an obvious attempt to evoke sympathy and thereby discredit the perfectly reasonable argument that a large scale, government-subsidized HUD housing project is indeed unsuitable in a small residential neighborhood which has neither the present infrastructure nor the zoning code to support it.

You can join the "Radio for Red Cross" Lifesaving Team by giving blood during the 15th Annual "Radio for Red Cross" blood drive.

Join your favorite radio station as they team up with the American Red Cross this summer to save lives.

The blood drive will be held on Tuesday, July 8, at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis in the Bay Tower Hotel Cypress Cove Ballrooms B and C, on Wednesday, July 9, at Edgewater Mall in Biloxi near the Carousel and on Thursday, July 10, at Singing River Mall in Gautier in the Variety Outlet space between McKee's and Penney's. The hours are noon until 7 p.m. all three days.

This year's blood drive is sponsored by Memorial Hospital, Premier Fitness and Hancock Bank along with thirteen radio stations including 92.5 KISS FM, Magic 93.7, Classic Rock 95.3, Molly 96.7, 97.9 WCPN, K99 FM, Coast 102, V104.9, Classic Rock 105.9, The Monkey 107.1, Kicker 108, Sports Radio 1490 and Talk Radio 1640 WTNI.

The blood drive will be held July 8 at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis in the Bay Tower Hotel, Cypress Cove Ballrooms B and C.

If you would like to volunteer to help work at the blood drive, contact Tori at 228-896-4511 or Cathy at 228-762-2455.

As a thank you for giving blood, donors will receive a commemorative "Radio for Red Cross" T-shirt, a free chicken sandwich coupon from Chick-fil-A, a free Pepsi product from Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Gulfport, three free tanning sessions from Planet Beach, a coupon for two free gourmet cookies from Cookies By Design, a coupon for a free buffet from Sicily's Ultimate Italian Buffet and a free one-week trial membership from Premier Fitness.

Supervised childcare will be provided while you donate, blood donors can enjoy Domino's Pizza in the canteen area and you can visit with your favorite radio personalities. Each donor will be entered into a drawing to win a gift basket filled with merchandise and coupons donated by mall merchants and local businesses. A basket will be given away each day of the drive.

This year, some lucky blood donor will be the 10,000th person to have ever given blood at a "Radio for Red Cross" blood drive. This donor will receive a $100 gift certificate from both Edgewater and Singing River Malls and a one-night stay at the Day Tower Hotel at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis along with dinner for two at the Jourdan River Grille.

High school and college donors are encouraged to give blood at the "Radio for Red Cross" blood drive. Students account for about 25 percent of the blood collected in our area during the school year.

The high school and college that has the most students give blood at this drive will win a free DJ party from the participating radio station of their choice after school resumes. You must be at least 17 years old and weigh 110 pounds to donate blood, have not donated in the past 56 days and be in good health.

A recent change has been made in the eligibility requirements for donating blood. People who have received chemotherapy in the past may now be able to donate if it has been at least five years since their treatments and their cancer has not recurred.

All blood types are critically needed. Supplies have already dropped to dangerously low levels this summer in most parts of the country including the Gulf Coast Region. For more information about joining the "Radio for Red Cross" Lifesaving Team, call the American Red Cross at 228-896-2217 or your local Red Cross Chapter.

If you would like to volunteer to help work at the blood drives, contact Tori at 228-896-4511 or Cathy at 228-762-2455.

When the 1999 Legislature increased the Medicaid eligibility for families from 100 per cent of the poverty rate to 135 per cent, within the next three years the number of Mississippians on the Medicaid rolls increased by some 200,000, to the current total of 709,000.

That's roughly a fourth of the population. No news there, however. It's approximately the same number of Mississippians who qualify for federal food stamps.

Included in the Medicaid total is CHIP--the Children's Health Insurance Program--which was going nowhere three years ago when only 500 children were enrolled, out of the 85,000 who had no health care insurance coverage, mostly because federal funds were not being matched.

Using funds from the Tobacco settlement, the number of children enrolled in CHIP in two years has increased from 500 to 56,000. Is that bad?

Incidentally, the Medicaid program, which has taken a lot of heat here (as it has all over the country) has seen costs rise not only from increased enrollment but because of dramatic increases in prescription drugs costs and also one-third on the rolls include the elderly who require more expensive medicine and services.

Despite the heat Mississippi's Medicaid director, Rica Payton-Lewis has received over rising costs of the program, this state's administrative overhead is only 2 percent, compared to 10 percent nationally.

"Drunken Sailor" issue No. 2: Education. Any fool can plainly see that education spending--at all levels--was increased dramatically in a package by the 2003 Legislature at Musgrove's behest.

A key part gave school teachers a $4,350 a year raise to catch up for lost ground the previous two bad years in a five-year annual commitment made in 2000 to raise teachers' salaries close to the Southeast average. But we're not quite there. Still about $6,000 short.

Lawmakers, with a $71 million infusion, at last fully funded its commitment to the Adequate Education program--otherwise our equity fund--for the poorest school districts whose ad valorem tax base (property) is too thin to even meet the barest educational standards set by the state.

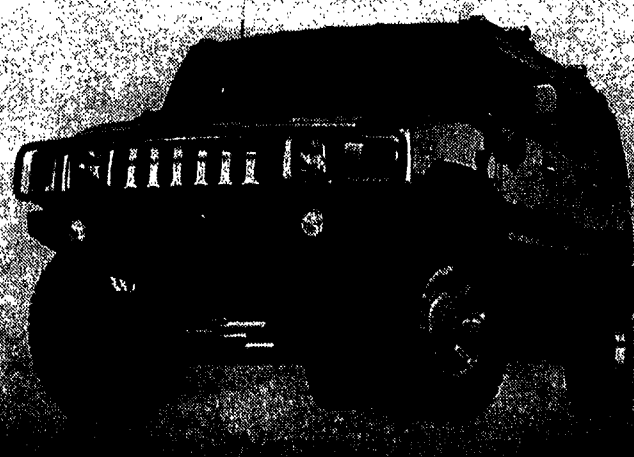

Started in 1996, the equity fund is what keeps us from having a state high court make us do it. A number of states failed to bolster school revenues for poor districts and they paid dearly in court orders.

Because our bonded debt tripled in the 1990s (remember we had a Republican Administration) our state debt service has risen sharply. However, it is beginning to taper off under lower bond interest rates.

Giving poor kids health care they didn't have, helping poor school districts, finally giving our historically low-paid school teachers a good raise: Is that what the "drunken sailor" has been wasting money on?

Bill -- tropical storm thrashes Hancock

Even emergency managers were not aware of the storm until late afternoon on Sunday — although they reacted to the threat quickly thereafter. Here in the county, director Brian Adam opened his office at the Hancock County Emergency Management Agency at about 4 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Monday morning, when it looked like rain bands from the storm would bring high winds and flooding to the county, Adam called in a full staff and ordered a recommended evacuation of low lying areas about 10 a.m., opening a special-needs shelter and another general shelter at East Hancock Elementary School. A mandatory evacuation order was issued at 4 p.m.

By Monday evening, only about 22 people were at the general shelter and about ten people were at the special needs shelter, Adam said. Many made the decision to ride out the storm at home.

Steve Duke of Jordan River Shores was one of those people. He and his wife moved their vehicles to higher ground and hoped for the best. But some neighbors packed up and left right away, Duke said, choosing to stay with friends or relatives.

"It wasn't too bad considering what we had last year," said Duke. "We had about two feet of water under the house and the water seemed cleaner with not as much debris. We've been here about eight years and we stayed; we stayed last year too... it's just a little water; you just have to get used to working with it."

Late Tuesday, when the Jordan River crested, Jordan River shores and the area of Springwood had more flooding, though by Wednesday morning much of the flood water had started to recede, Adam said.

Other flooding, some severe, occurred in Shoreline Park, Garden Isles, Jordan River Estates, Heron Bay, Bayou Phillips, all of Pearlinton, and all along the beach road where reports were of a three-to-five foot tidal surge, he said. The county reported about seven inches of rain with sustained winds at 19 mph and gusts to 42 mph.

Crews will be assessing damage over the next few days with a full report to be turned into MEMA as soon as possible, Adam said. So far, reports of damage have been minor, he said.

Some tree damage occurred from a tornado that touched down between Mollere and Lafitte drives in Waveland about 6:20 p.m. Monday. Several downed trees were reported, one falling on a roof on Sycamore St. in Bay St. Louis. No injuries were reported. Another large tree fell in a yard on Dunbar St., just missing Dazzling Dogs, but taking along power lines in its descent.

A tree falling on a car just missed its owner, who got away with just scratches, Adam said. Other downed trees blocked the road at Joe Moran Rd. and the railroad tracks in Lakeshore and Clermont Harbor.

The storm left about 6,200 Mississippi Power customers without service, Adam said. Coast Electric reported about 6,000 customers without power in the county. By about 10 a.m. Tuesday, only about 25 Coast Electric customers remained without power, the company reported. Adam said that Mississippi Power expected to have all customers restored to power by noon Tuesday.

"This was a good learning experience for me," said Adam of his first time to work with his team during a disaster. "The team here was great and so were the Supervisors, who were all here to help me. It makes the job easier when people are backing you. The cities also did a good job of keeping us informed."

The Hancock Emergency Management Agency has requested damage information from the unincorporated areas of Hancock County. Any type of damage you received from Tropical Storm Bill should be reported, including minor flooding, wind damage, or any other structural damage. You may contact the agency at 466-4115 or the County Flood Plain Office at 467-4157.

Stolen

Spell emphasized that this joint investigation has been successful because of a close and cooperative effort involving the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Interim Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt said, he and members of the sheriff's department assisted officers of the Commissioner of Agriculture on the investigation, noting the equipment was recovered in Hancock County.

Commissioner Spell also expressed appreciation to other law enforcement agencies, including the Mississippi Bureau of Investigations and Louisiana State Police, for their work and effort in recovery and identification of the stolen property, which included tractors, backhoes and pick-up trucks. Most of the identified equipment was stolen within the past year. The public is being requested to furnish additional information regarding this investigation, Spell said. Anyone having information on this investigation, which is continuing, may contact the Hancock County Sheriff's Department at (228-467-5101, or the MDAC's Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau at (800) 678-2660.

Spell concluded, "I am proud of the successful efforts of our Bureau. The Bureau's involvement in approximately 200 felony cases a year. The unit is considered to have a high recovery and success rate by those in the law enforcement community."

July 1st marked the 10th anniversary of the Bureau which was established by action of the Legislature in 1993.

Spell's report said, "More equipment and arrests are expected," adding, "If convicted, Mr. Woods could receive a maximum sentence of five years on each count, or a total of 40 years."

Woods' has been released on bond pending court action.

BUSINESS NEWS

No more Flowers

BellSouth expands DSL service to all areas in state

BellSouth has announced it would deploy high-speed Digital Subscriber Line (DSL) service to an additional 87 offices throughout the state, resulting in 100% of its Mississippi central offices offering DSL by year-end.

BellSouth currently offers DSL through 116 of its 203 central offices.

The Mississippi Broadband Technology Development Act was designed to provide companies with larger economic incentives for deploying broadband services in the least populated areas of the state and smaller incentives to more urban areas. Prior to this legislation, the cost associated with deploying broadband in the least populated areas prevented companies - including BellSouth - from deploying residential broadband throughout the entire state.

The expanded DSL deployment is being funded through a reallocation of funds from BellSouth's capital investment program and through tax incentives granted under the Mississippi Broadband Technology Development Act.

BellSouth® FastAccess® DSL service is BellSouth's high speed Internet access service that uses DSL and works at speeds up to 50 times faster than a 28.8k dial-up modem. Large data files such as audio clips, research documents, product literature, and patient records can be downloaded or transferred in seconds rather than minutes. Consumers can make travel reservations online, and small businesses can conduct electronic sales via the Internet in seconds.

MGM Mirage selling Golden Nuggets

LAS VEGAS (AP) - Gambling giant MGM Mirage said last week it plans to sell its Golden Nugget Las Vegas and Golden Nugget Laughlin hotel-casinos to a Las Vegas-based private investment firm.

The $215 million agreement with Poster Financial Group, Inc. is subject to conditions including regulatory and governmental approvals, according to a statement.

Poster Financial Group is owned by Timothy Poster and Thomas Breitling, founders of the travel Website Travelscape, which they later sold to Expedia. "The Golden Nugget brand is among the most well known in gaming, and we intend to capitalize on this reputation," said Poster, his company's president and chief executive.

Terry Lanni, chief executive at Las Vegas-based MGM Mirage, said the sale would benefit his company's stockholders. The company said the deal is expected to be completed before the end of the year.

Poster and Breitling said in a statement that they had no immediate plans to change the hotels' theme or look, and said they intend to retain top managers at both properties.

The Golden Nugget Las Vegas is the largest hotel-casino in downtown Las Vegas. It opened as a gambling hall in 1946 and now has 1,907 guest rooms and about 3,000 employees.

Casino developer Steve Wynn bought it in 1972, and bought the Golden Nugget in Laughlin in 1988.

The Golden Nugget Laughlin has 300 rooms and about 1,000 workers.

MGM Mirage bought both, along with other Wynn properties, in May 2000.

David Anders, a Merrill Lynch gambling analyst in New York, praised the sale.

"We view the transaction positively as it will increase the company's financial flexibility and allow it to focus on its core Las Vegas Strip assets," he said.

Mirage owns the Beau Rivage Resort in Biloxi, Miss.

Jobless rate increases

BY BARBARA POWELL
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) - Mississippi's jobless rate rose in May to 6.5 percent, a higher rate than reported by both the South and the nation as a whole.

In April, the statewide jobless rate was 6.1 percent.

Some of May's jump in unemployment was due to students job seekers trying to find work in a tight labor market, said Jan Garrick, a spokeswoman for the Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

The state lost jobs in manufacturing, trade, transportation, utilities and government last month. It added jobs in construction, education and health services, leisure and hospitality and agriculture.

Other employment data from the Department of Labor also shows that Mississippi, like the nation, continues to feel the effects of a soft economy in which employers are still laying off workers, slashing hours and slowing down expansion plans.

In Mississippi, even though average hourly wages have gone up since last year, average weekly salaries are falling because employers are cutting workers' hours to save money.

"People are just not working as much; that tells you that things have slowed down," said Wayne Gasson, chief of labor market information for the Employment Security Commission.

There are some areas of strength in the state labor market, say Michael Wald, regional economist for the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics in Atlanta. North Mississippians are finding work in Memphis, the Gulf Coast is benefiting from tourism and that area as well as Vicksburg, Natchez and Tunica are reaping the benefits of a strong casino industry, he said.

But overall, Wald said, "What we conclude in what we're seeing generally, the firings are slowing down but you're not getting the hirings either."

The strongest employment area last month was Lamar County, where the 3.1 percent jobless rate was the lowest in the state. The highest rate was the 20.2 percent reported by Jefferson County.

Statewide, the number of mass layoff events, those involving 50 or more workers, increased in May to 9 from the 8 reported in April.

Nationally, there were also more mass layoffs, 1,699 vs. 1,576 in April.

Nationwide, regional and state unemployment rates were generally stable in May, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. All four U.S. regions and 45 states recorded rate changes of 0.3 percent or less from April.

The national jobless rate remained unchanged at 6.1 percent.

Unemployment rates fell from April to May in 23 states and the District of Columbia, increased in 18 states and were unchanged in nine states.

The number of Mississippi workers on non-farm payrolls dropped slightly in May to 1.124 million from 1.128 million in April.

Including Mississippi, nonfarm employment increased in 34 states last month, fell in 14 states and the District of Columbia and was unchanged in two states.

Nationally, the lowest jobless rate among nine geographic regions was 4.5 percent recorded by the West North Central region. The highest regional rate was 6.8 percent recorded for the Pacific region.

The lowest state rates were again recorded by South Dakota and North Dakota, which reported 3.2 and 3.5 percent respectively. Oregon again reported the highest jobless rate, 8.2 percent, followed by Alaska and Washington, at 7.3 percent each.

Customers are advised to boil their water until future notice.

Steve Jones spokesperson for the water system, said this precautionary action is necessary because the system lost pressure.

When a distribution system loses pressure, contaminants can siphon back into the system. Public health officials consider any system that has lost pressure contaminated until test of the water prove otherwise. As soon as pressure is restored to those customers affected, water system officials will begin collecting water samples for testing.

When pressure is restored, officials recommend that consumers vigorously boil for one minute any water to be consumed. Users will be notified when test show the water is safe.

First place goes to the Joe Marshall family at the Fourth of July boat parade in the Garden Island Community.

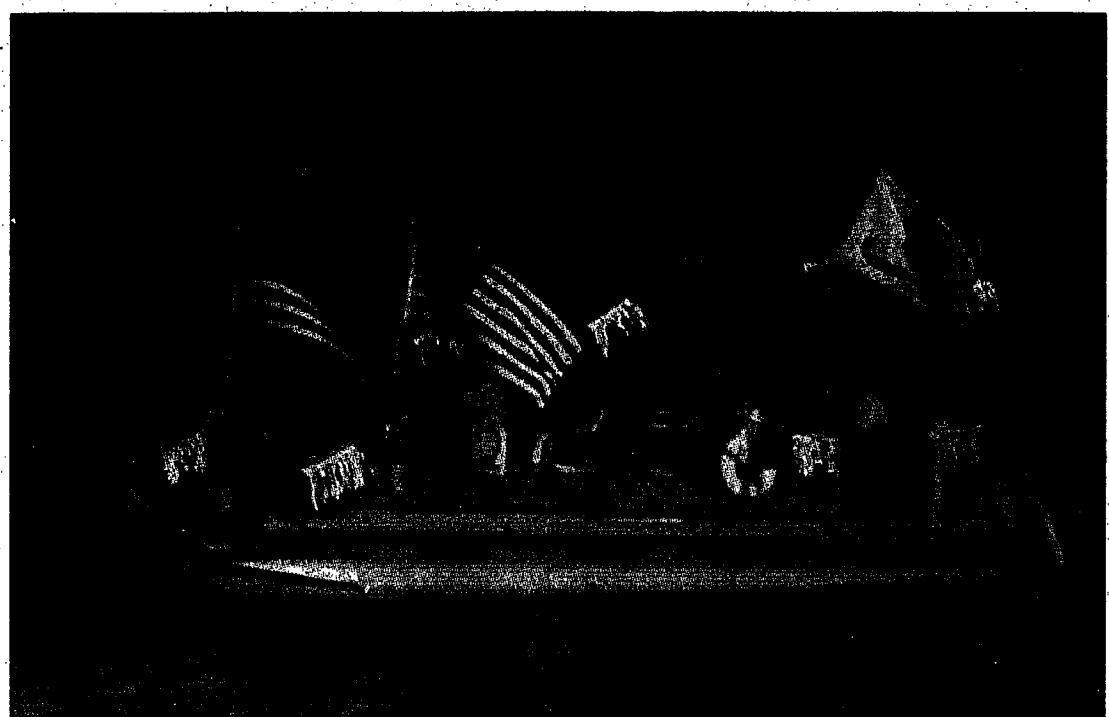

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The Fourth of July holiday got off to an early start in one local neighborhood when the Garden Island Community Association held its annual patriotic boat parade and celebration on Saturday afternoon.

Scores of neighbors and their families and friends turned out for the event that centered around the homes of the Doucets and the Henrys on Dove Blvd. Even though the street was packed with revelers, no one complained; they were all at the party.

Special treats for the day were fried turkeys prepared by George Melancon and a roasted whole pig prepared by George Marshall. Dozens of other delicacies were contributed by neighbors. Music was provided by DJ Clint Bourgeois.

Grand Marshall of the parade was George Marshall, son of Joe and Dottie Marshall. Queen of the parade was Miss Taylor

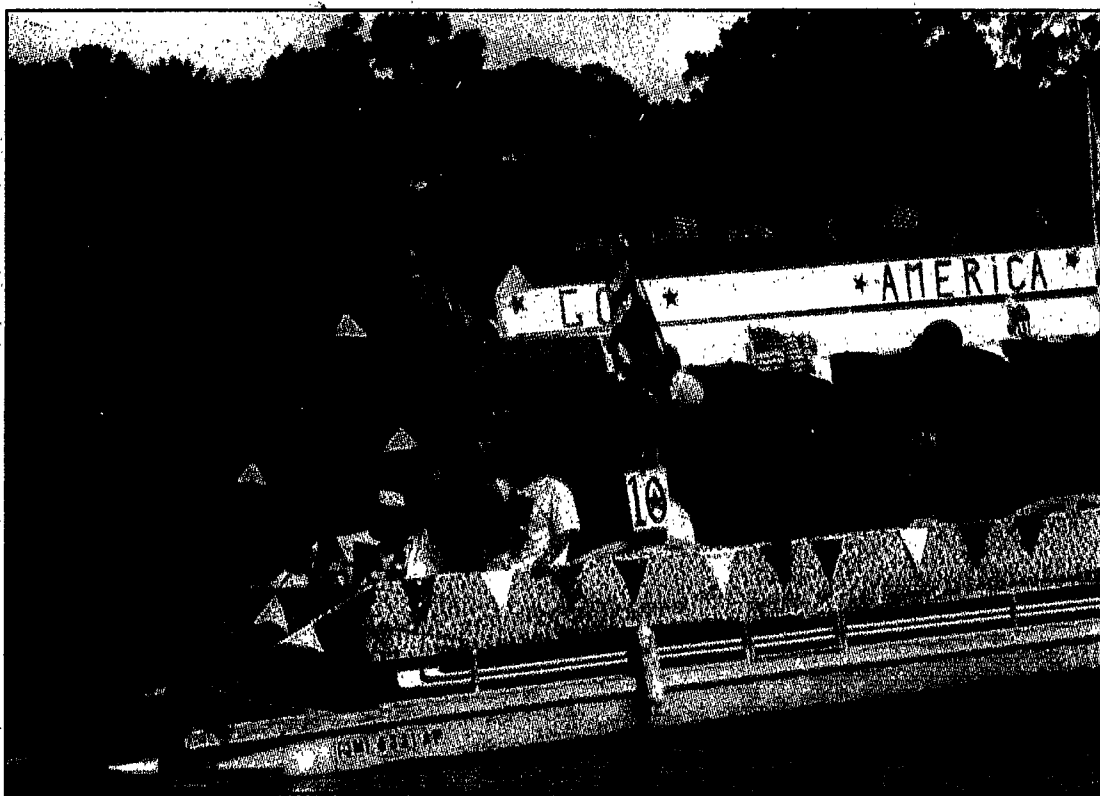

Second place goes to the George Melancon family.

White, niece of Joe and Dottie Marshall. King of the parade was Cole Marshall, son of George Marshall and grandson of Joe and Dottie Marshall.

Performers in the National Dance Institute's Gulf Coast dance camp will present a dance gala at 7 p.m. today in the auditorium of Bay St. Louis High School.

The gala will mark the final performance for students participating in a two-week dance residency called "Do You Want to Dance?" The residency, presented by instructors from the National Dance Institute in New York and hosted by the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast, provides access to the arts to a variety of Gulf Coast children.

Gulf Coast students in grades fourth through seventh are participating in the dance residency. It is an opportunity for racially diverse, middle-grades children, regardless of socioeconomic status or prior dance experience, to receive free dance instruction from master dance teachers for a two-week period.

This summer's dance residency marks the fifth year The University of Southern Mississippi has hosted the National Dance Institute on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. To celebrate the fifth anniversary, a reunion will be held during the gala for all former participants of the program.

For more information on the National Dance Institute or the event Thursday, contact Dr. Nancy Masztal at (228) 865-4512 or Jennifer Fava of the USMGC Division of Continuing Education at (228) 867-8776.

(Top) Julie Martin in front of her Bay St. Louis house — the Old Spanish Customs Home.

Built before the Louisiana Purchase, the Old Spanish Customs House in Bay St. Louis withstood Hurricane Camille, a bolt of lightening and the occasional mishap.

Its owner, Julie Martin, bought the home, which is listed on the National Registry of Historic Places, in November 1998 and has been restoring this living museum ever since.

Martin, however, was not searching for a home when she found this historic dwelling, which was constructed from 1787 to 1790.

She was living in Houston at the time and had returned home for a class reunion. Martin took a newspaper back with her and spotted the house in a real estate ad.

"God said, 'This is your house,'" she said. "I tried to ignore it and set the ad aside for a few weeks, but a voice kept at me and I couldn't ignore it."

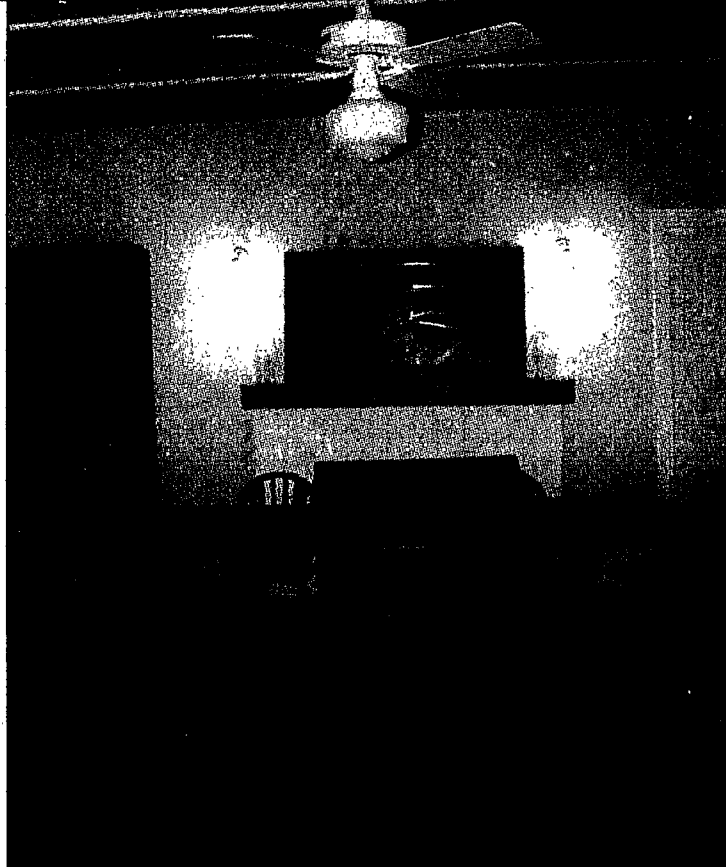

Martin gave in and called to get more information. She thought a simple call would appease the voice in her head, but it continued — "This is your house."

Finally, Martin set up an appointment to see the home.

"I took one step inside, and I knew I was supposed to be in this house and be in Bay St. Louis," she said.

Martin fell in love. The house featured handmade brick throughout, including the first level floor. Triple thick brick walls provided a solid structure while original Cypress beams lay exposed in the living room downstairs and the master bedroom upstairs.

1953 — DA Holleman calls for 'clean-up' of five establishments along Hancock/Pearl River County line

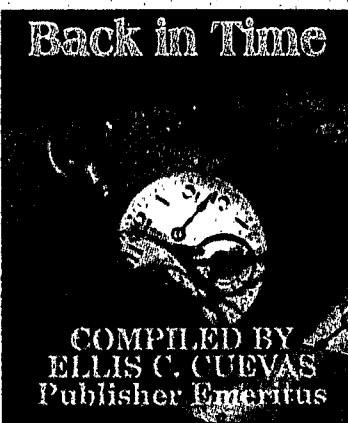

TEN YEARS AGO
June 20, 1993 - A senior Congressional staffer will visit Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant Thursday, June 24, to discuss a new initiative that will encourage the use of the idle capacity at ammunition plants. Ran Fishblein, a professional staff member of the U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee, will participate in a scheduled "town hall" meeting scheduled for 1:30 p.m. at Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant, building 9313, Stennis Space Center. Representatives from Chemtex, a Texas corporation based in Dallas, will be present at the June 24 meeting at Stennis Space Center on the Armament Retooling Manufacturing Support initiative. Chemtex plans to produce 2 million pounds per-year of sodium oxide, a substance used in the production of bags for the automobile industry, at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
June 19, 1983 - Bay St. Louis native Leo Seal Junior was named King Neptune 35th at the annual kick-off of the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo last week. Seal's father was named King Neptune II, some 33-years-ago, and this is the first time for a father and son to lead the state's official fishing rodeo. The rodeo held at the Gulfport Small Craft Harbor, is recognized as the World's largest fishing rodeo. The rodeo will be held July 1-4.

Members of the revived Hancock County Animal Control Commission plan to meet with the animal wardens of Bay St. Louis and Waveland to arrange a maintenance schedule for the soon to be opened Waveland Animal Shelter. The facility is designed to serve those cities and the county. City and county officials, and commission members met Wednesday night at Waveland City Hall to discuss maintenance management and funding of the tri-government facility.

FORTY YEARS AGO
June 20, 1963 - Three construction projects—including foundations for the first two mighty rocket test stands at the Mississippi Test

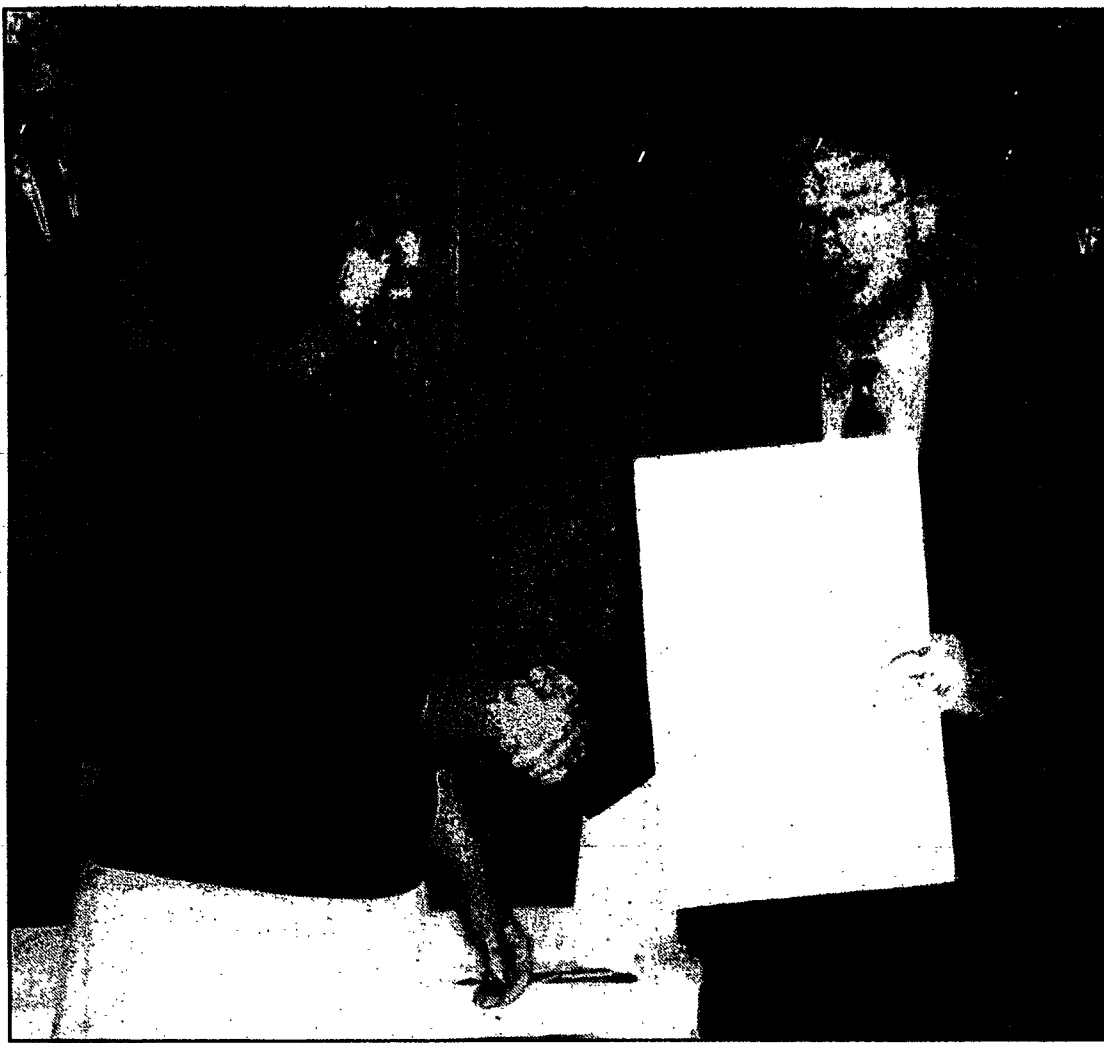

Operations were advertised for bids by the Corps of Engineers last week. Competitive bids are sought for construction of two static stand foundations for testing the Saturn V Apollo Moon Rocket's first and second stages, an electrical distribution system and an office building for the Corps of Engineers' area engineer. The Corps is NASA's agents for land acquisition and construction of the $500 million rocket testing center in Hancock County.

in the nation-wide plan beginning July 1.

FIFTY YEARS AGO
June 19, 1953 - District Attorney Boyce Holleman had called for a "clean-up" of five establishments along the Hancock-Pearl River County line regarding "the frequent violations of the law against the sale of intoxicating liquor and gambling." The district attorney said that Hancock Sheriff John Egloff had agreed to cooperate with him in the clean-up of these places, which were unnamed. Holleman said that if necessary he would ask assistance from the Mississippi National Guard

Sicily's Ultimate Italian Buffet

To know Sicily's is to love Sicily's, one visit to Sicily's Ultimate Italian Buffet and you'll know why. Family oriented Sicily's offers fine Italian food at reasonable prices. The success of Sicily's is due to their commitment of providing guest the highest quality ingredients, great service, selection and value.

Sicily's Ultimate Italian Buffet has the largest salad bar in Bay St. Louis. The produce is hand selected and brought in fresh every day. Sicily's pizza dough is made fresh daily and is the building block for their award winning gourmet pizzas. Only the finest ingredients are selected for Sicily's pizza, such as the best mozzarella cheese, the #1 Italian sausage in the nation, and the best quality pepperoni. Sicily's is the only restaurant, that I know of, that will take a request for a pizza that is not on the buffet, and bring it to your table at no extra charge. Salad and pizza are not the only items available on the buffet, there is surely something to please every member of your family. You can choose from pasta dishes, lasagna, heart healthy baked chicken, various vegetables, rice dishes, soups and gumbo. (The gumbo is truly delicious and my personal favorite). Everything is seasoned by hand. Nothing is purchased already prepared. Even the salad dressings are hand made. Save room for the gourmet coffee and dessert bar. Indulge in phenomenal pizza desserts, such as Mom's apple pie, blueberry, cherry or rocky road. Try the delicious soft serve ice cream with sundae toppings and various cakes and cheesecake. On Tuesdays, kids 10 & under eat absolutely free with a paying adult. Wednesdays are senior citizen day. Remember everything on Sicily's buffet is available for carryout or order from the a la carte menu.

For more information or to inquire about parties or seating for large groups call 463-9909 or visit Sicily's at 620 Blue Meadow Rd. in Bay St. Louis.

Sportsman license holders can win new truck

THE SEA COAST ECHO

In a matter of months, some lucky Mississippi Sportsman License holder will be driving home a new Dodge Truck, according to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

Mississippi Dodge dealers have joined with Mississippi Outdoors and the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks to give away another Dodge Ram 4 X 4 truck.

Anyone who purchases a 2003-04 Mississippi Sportsman License, or renews their current Sportsman License, on or before Nov. 30, 2003, will be eligible to win this beautiful truck," Deputy Administrator Al Tuck said.

The truck will be given away on Dec. 11, at 7:30 pm, during a live broadcast of the "Mississippi Outdoors" television show on the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

Agency officials say the winner will be contacted by the DWFP once an official background check has been completed. The winner must not have previous Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks violations and must have a clean driving record. Participants must be a Mississippi resident and must have a valid state driving license.

Employees of any Dodge Dealer, the MDWFP, ETV, participating media representatives and any advertising or promotional agencies and suppliers and their immediate families are ineligible to participate or win the drawing.

For more contest information, contact the DWFP web site at mdwfp.com, or call toll-free 800-GO PARKS.

St. Rose 5k race starts off on the right foot

THE SEA COAST ECHO

At 6:00 am on Saturday, it was raining. By 7:00 am the clouds parted and the sun came out.

The first Annual St. Rose de Lima 5K went off as scheduled. The course wound its way through oak shaded streets, through neighborhoods of charming cottages and then to the beach and Old Town Bay St. Louis, starting and ending at St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church.

The youngest participant was 7 years old and the oldest was 78. Many who participated expressed their enthusiasm by inquiring as to the date of the next 5K. Doug St. Amant was the race coordinator.

This was a community event sponsored by Casino Magic, The Knights and ladies of Peter Claver, The Krewe of Real People, Coast Coke, Kentwood Water, and SavaCenter. Wonderful things happen when everyone gets involved.

Winners were as follows: Overall Winner - Matthew Frost.

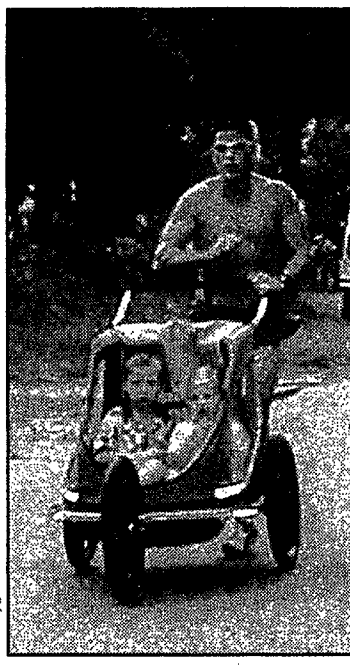

Second Place: Mike Scardino - Who not only finished overall second, first in his division, but was pushing a stroller

Third Place was Maurice Singleton III - Finishing first in his age division, and overall third.

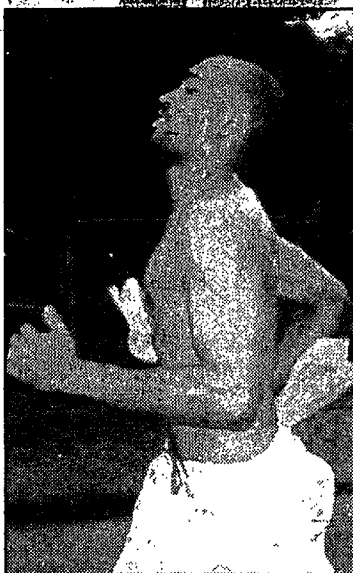

Fourth Place was Michelle Schussler - First Overall woman.

House

She made an offer on the home that day, and by the time she had flown back to Houston, the bid was accepted. Martin called a woman who had expressed an interest in her Texas home and sold it that night.

When Martin returned to Bay St. Louis, she traded in her career as a college professor to begin her own company, Historical Assets. Now, Martin helps other people restore their historic homes.

Martin's home, however, is not like most other historic homes. Charles Gray, a representative of the Hancock County Historical Society, said her home is possibly the oldest house on the Coast. He said the owners of a home in Pascagoula claim to have the oldest home, but he doubts the home's age.

Gray also believes the home was never actually the Spanish Customs building. He said the house probably received its name because the customs inspector once lived there.

With its rich history, Martin set to work adding her own touches to the home. Most of her work included restoring the house, but Martin has introduced additional features.

In December 2002, she had central air and heat installed in the home, which she believes will help preserve it.

Her most recent project includes a new staircase in the second floor master bedroom that matches the main staircase downstairs, which was built in 1810. This addition leads to the attic, which Martin is transforming into a third floor living space. She may use this new space as a home office.

"I tried to preserve as much as possible while updating the home and bringing it up to code," Martin said.

The restoration, however, has not been a piece of cake.

In March 1999, a bolt of lightning struck the home and literally blew the roof into the air. Martin said the roof twisted sideways a bit and landed back on top of the house. The lightning also blew off the gables and blew out the windows and wiring.

Another incident occurred in 2001 when the fireplace collapsed and nearly landed on a worker.

Aside from its history and misfortunes, the home possesses a "fascination" with the number three. This 3,300-square-foot home has three stories, three bedrooms, three bathrooms and three registered historic trees on its property.

to "restore law and order," in that area. Holleman said he has written letters to three local law enforcement officers in the concerned area, advising them as to what his policy as district attorney is to conditions in the area.

—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kenneth Martinolich, Jr., both will receive doctor of Medicine degrees at commencement exercises of the University of Tennessee Medical units at 8 p.m. Monday night. Martinolich is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.K. Martinolich, Sr., of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Martinolich is the former Betty Joyce Drury, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Drury of Brookhaven, Miss.

SIXTY YEARS AGO

June 25, 1942 - Corporal Clifford Bourgeois son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bourgeois of Waveland, who was wounded in action in the South Pacific has reached this country, and is at the Kennedy General Hospital in Memphis. He has advised his parents that he will be home next week for a thirty-day furlough. Mr. and Mrs. Bourgeois has two other sons Wesley and Morris in service and a fourth Leroy will leave on June 29th for Camp Shelby.

—Both Bay St. Louis High School and St. Stanislaus Bands scored "Superior" ratings this year in the Mississippi High School Music Association.

Casino Magic plans three-day July 4th celebration fireworks

Coasters, Drifters and Platters to rock the nights away in classic style

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Beginning July 3 with a free fireworks display at 9 p.m., Casino Magic Bay St. Louis kicks off the holiday with a bang.

First, the deluxe fireworks show will be choreographed to patriotic music and free to the public. Then July 4 and 5, "A Salute To America's Golden Oldies" will be split into two days. July 4, The Coasters, The Drifters and The Platters will perform all their hits in one show beginning at 9 p.m. July 5, the legendary ladies of the 50s rock era Lesley Gore, Peggy March, The Chiffons, The Angels, The Marvelettes and The Shangri-Las all perform on one stage.

Tickets for each show, sold separately, are $14.95, $19.95 and $24.95 and can be purchased at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or at any Ticketmaster location.

A Salute To America's Golden Oldies Friday, July 4 - The Gentlemen The Coasters are the supreme comedians of rock and roll. What's more, their impact has deepened with time.

Their songs, their parodies and the tunes that became million-selling records are revived in this new generation of music. The Coasters were the first vocal group to be inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. They have appeared in 6 major movies and have amassed over 100 million record sales in their career. And to this date, their act is one of the liveliest and funniest in show business. Their hits include "Charlie Brown", "Along Came Jones", "Yakety Yak", and "Love Potion #9".

The Drifters. The

Legendary Elsbeary Hobbs performed on the greatest Drifter hits of all time from 1958 until his untimely death in 1996. Now, Hobbs' wife, Odessa Hobbs, has united many of late husband's former band members as the Elsbeary Hobbs' Drifters to commemorate much of the great material to which he contributed so artistically. Elsbeary Hobbs' Drifters blends a tasteful mixture of their million sellers with contemporary standards, all presented within the context of the Drifters famous patented choreography. Their hits include "There Goes My Baby", "This Magic Moment", "Save the Last Dance For Me", "On Broadway", and "Under The Boardwalk".

The Platters formed in 1953 and by 1955 recorded the ballad "Only You" which was the beginning of stardom for the group that was to become the most popular vocal group of the fifties. To date, they have four number one songs and sixteen gold records. They have toured in 75 countries across the world and still spend much time abroad. Playing venues from Madison Square Garden to the Bottom Line, the group is still delighting audiences on a regular basis.

In 1990 The Platters were inducted into The Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. Their hits include "Only You", "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes", "Ebb Tide", "Twilight Time", and "The Great Pretender". A Salute To America's Golden Oldies Saturday, July 5 - The Ladies Lesley Gore first entered the Top 40 charts with the #1 hit, "It's My Party", in May of 1963, just after her 17th birthday. She quickly racked up several more hit records as she became the standard bearer for teenage angst. Such Top 5 hits as "Judy's Turn To Cry", "She's A Fool", and "You Don't Own Me" united teenage girls around the world with someone who seemed to be going through the same things they were. Leslie recorded eleven Top 40 hits total, all before her 21st birthday. She continues to delight audiences around the world.

Peggy March had one big hit during her decade with RCA Records, and that was when she was 15 years old. But that song, "I Will Follow Him," spent three weeks at the number one spot on the charts and even topped the R&B charts for a week as well. Her subsequent hits, "I Wish I Were a Princess" and "Hello Heartache, Goodbye Love," also scored on the Top 40.

The Chiffons were one of the best early-60s New York girl groups, combining sassiness and innocence on several of the style's greatest classics including their first number on hit "He's So Fine."

They followed that hit with the "One Fine Day," and later recorded other memorable hits "I Have a Boyfriend" and the Motown-influenced "Sweet Talkin' Guy."

The Angels' 1963 number one hit, "My Boyfriend's Back," is one of the half-dozen or so girl group classics.

Hand clap beats, sassy vocals, slightly campy lyrics, and an arrangement paced by wailing horns and street corner harmonies; it was a surefire hit. The Angels had actually been around for a while before "My Boyfriend's Back," making the Top 20 in 1961 with the ballad "Till," and the Top 40 with a follow-up, "Cry Baby Cry."

The Shangri-Las were the greatest girl group, combining an innocent adolescent charm with more than a hint of darkness, singing about dead bikers, teenage runaways, and doomed love affairs as well as ebullient high-school crushes. "Leader of the Pack," with its periodic motorcycle roars and crescendo of crashing glass, was the death-rock classic that became the Shangri-Las' signature tune, reaching number one. They followed that with "Give Him a Great Big Kiss" and "I Can Never Go Home Anymore," a runaway tale that took their patented pathos to the extreme.

The Marvelettes were probably the most pop-oriented of Motown's major female acts, and they recorded Motown's first number one single, "Please Mr. Postman." "Postman," as well as other early-'60s hits like "Playboy," "Twistin' Postman," and "Beechwood 4-5789," were the label's purest girl group efforts. The Marvelettes also recorded such classic hits like "Too Many Fish in the Sea," "Don't Mess With Bill," and "The Hunter Gets Captured By the Game."

Spend a three day rockin' celebration July 3-5 at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis.

Must be 21.
